

LAWRENCE LEADS INTO FINAL ROUND

After a week-end of mixed fortunes, David Lawrence leads the 2009 Aussie Car Championship into the final round; Kyle Clews was a surprise winner of Round 6 of the Aussie Racing Cars Super Series at the Gold Coast's Super GP this weekend after a final race melee put David Lawrence into the wall and out of contention. Race 3 saw Lawrence win his third race for the weekend with Clews second and Maurice Masini third, which eventually gave him third for the round. Race 4 today turned out to be the one to watch after David Besnard threw a cat amongst the pigeons to force his way to the front of the field and provide a race-long battle with Lawrence, Clews and Gowans. On many occasions the lead bunch went through the corners two wide in what was the most spectacular racing of the event. It was the last lap that provided most of the action with Lawrence falling victim at the second chicane where he ended up in the wall in the shuffle, he went on to finish 12th.
