

Sera Switches To Azzurro

James Sera has shocked the karting establishment and switched to Azzurro.

The Melbourne karter, who recently set up Deadly Dave's Driver Development with cousin David, has been testing the karts recently and will not only drive Azzurro chassis, but is now a part owner of the business!

Azzurro's Steve Petrakis informed KartSportNews of Sera's move, stating James was impressed with the kart and that it was very different to other karts he has driven.

Sera was regularly seen driving Monaco and Kosmic chassis for MKC, then more recently Arrow.

from KartSportNews.com, Friday September 11

http://www.kartsportnews.com/content/2009/news_090911-16.html